March

LQG Meeting: Monday, March 13, 2017

Speaker: Barb Blincow

Program: "Accepting the Challenge"

Many challenges come our way, some have preset boundaries, such as quilt guild challenges or mystery quilts with rules. Some are a more personal goal. Taking on new challenges is a wonderful way to grow and learn new techniques. Barb will show us some of the challenges she has attempted in the last 20 years. She claims not all are a success, but the opportunities to learn new things, sometimes pushing you out of the box are always interesting. Hopefully, you too will accept the challenge. If you have participated in a challenge, you are encouraged to bring your challenge quilt with you to the meeting to share with the group during "Show and Tell."

Barb grew up with a mother who could and did sew most of their clothing and dance costumes, and a sister who learned garment sewing from their mother. Barb detested sewing and made one apron for 4-H and was done! However, any type of craft that came along, such as paint-by-number, crochet, etc., was right up her alley. She loved quilts though and had no one in the family who quilted. When she married, the family came with a grandmother who made lots of embroidered and sunbonnet quilts. Barb did not get the chance to learn from her, but did inherit some of her treasured quilts.

Once a quilt shop opened up in my town she took a sampler class and the quilting bug bit her hard! She also became an empty nester around that time so had a room to use for sewing. That was almost 20 years ago.

Barb now lives in Hebron, NE with her husband, Dean, a recently retired Deputy Sheriff. Her full-time job, to help support her quilting habit, is Office Manager & Billing Clerk for the Fairbury Light and Water Department, where she has been employed for almost 25 years. She and her husband have one son, Jon. He and his wife, Terra, live in Arnold Missouri. They have two adorable sons, Jackson and Chase.

Barb loves every aspect of the quilting process, has taught many classes and workshops and has done machine quilting for hire on her domestic machine. She purchased a longarm quilting machine last year and is now quilting larger quilts for hire.

Class: Four Patch Scramble
Instructor: Barb Blincow
Date: Tuesday, March 14, 2017

In this class participants will learn how to create a kaleidoscope design by only using a four patch. You can make a table runner, wall hanging or a larger quilt using this technique. This method is much easier than how the results look.

April

LQG Meeting: Monday, April 10, 2017

Speaker: Lynne Hagmeier of Kansas Troubles Quilters

Program: "Moda and Beyond"

Kansas Troubles Quilters was born in 1989 when three friends began quilting together & selling their wares at craft shows. After many requests for the patterns of their original creations, two of the women continued their endeavors in the quilting world by publishing their patterns for wholesale distribution to quilt shops beginning in 1994. More than twenty years later (after another partner retired in 1999), Lynne has created hundreds of quilting patterns, published 2 dozen books (five in a series of historical quilts as well as quilters journals) & designed over 50 collections of fabric with Moda. There's always something new in the works at Kansas Troubles Quilters - from new fabric lines to books, patterns, workshops, retreats & cruises.

Lynne learned to quilt over 25 years ago at a local quilt shop in Salina, Kansas, called The Quilting Bee, while working there part time. Her love of quilting evolved from other interests over the years; from cross-stitch & painting to home decorating & antiques. In 2000, Moda fabrics offered Lynne an opportunity to design fabric for their growing company. What a thrill to create a line of fabrics in exactly the colors you want & then make a quilt you've designed with that new fabric! In 2001 (after the last kid went off to college), she & her husband Robert sold their house & moved to a restored two-story brick building in Lynne's childhood hometown of Bennington, Kansas, to expand her studio & offer Quilting Getaways on the weekends. Robert joined the business full-time, promising Lynne that if she designed & made quilts, he'd do everything else. Lynne is traveling several times a year to quilt shops and guilds across the country to offer programs & workshops from her quilt books & patterns.

Lynne will share over 50 quilts and stories from Kansas Troubles' first fabric line to the very newest designs.
